By ensuring that the customer is compensated without having to ask for it, the bank expects that instances of the customers having to approach Banking Ombudsman or any other Forum for redressal would reduce significantly.

It is reiterated that the policy covers only compensation for financial losses which customers might incur due to deficiency in the services offered by the bank which can be measured directly and as such the commitments under this policy are without prejudice to any right the bank will have in defending its position before any forum duly constituted to adjudicate banker-customer disputes.
